

I do not believe that NJ's do not call law should be weakened. It is about time that we were protected from rude and annoying telemarketers. They call in the morning when people are sleeping, during dinner, and if they do happen to get a hold of someone can never take no for an answer.